Tudor Place Tea & Tours

An elegant tea at Tudor Place satisfies the mind and nourishes the appetite—a lovely way to relax and learn about this National Historic Landmark with friends or family. A Tudor Place tea begins with an endless supply of heritage tea blends served with traditional tea sandwiches and sweets. Afterwards, proceed to the historic house for a private, guided tour of the house or gardens.

Get social with early America's favorite beverage

Tea and its rituals have been part of Tudor Place for 200 years. Continue the tradition with a private group tea for 15 to 35 colleagues, family or friends. Your party will enjoy an elegant, Victorian tea party in the 1867 Dower House, coupled with an informative house or garden tour. Afterward, explore the landscaped gardens at your leisure.

Full service from friendly professionals

Teas can be scheduled at your convenience, Tuesday-Sunday, for groups of 15 to 35. These events are $40 per person, and include a full-service tea with scones, finger sandwiches, and desserts; unlimited heritage blend teas served by friendly staff on fine porcelain; and a private guided tour of the historic house or garden.

Before or after tea: Enjoy shopping and historic neighborhoods

It's easy to pair your Tudor Place visit with shopping, dining, or just strolling in the historic neighborhoods of Georgetown, Dupont Circle and Foggy Bottom. Browse the museum shop at Tudor Place and the charming boutiques, galleries, and cafes just around the corner in Book Hill. Or stroll down Wisconsin Avenue to explore Georgetown's bustling shopping streets and restaurants, the picturesque C&O Canal, and the Potomac riverfront.
